

The Female Lead Society

The Female Lead Society is a club set up in school and open to all year 10 girls. The club offers weekly sessions about ambition, careers, confidence and female role models. Students get the chance to discuss the stories of inspiring women whilst also exploring the larger issues such as gender equality and gender stereotypes, working together to consider the challenges young women face.

The club's sessions will cover modules such as:

- portrayal of women in media
- gender equality workshop
- women in Science debate
- activism: getting involved
- building resilience

Students work towards completing a group presentation project on their choice of an inspiring woman, developing skills in research, teamwork and organisation. There will be accreditation at the end of the year for those who complete the project.

For further information please see the programme's website: www.thefemalelead.com

